

Woodhenge Gardens

Woodhenge Fall 2011 Intros

<http://www.woodhengegardens.com>

Created: Thursday December 15, 2011

BEFORE - $70 - (Murphy 2011) 16 EE 6 Dormant diploid Unusual Form Cascade This plant starts blooming before all daylilies except three in our garden, and is in full bloom when Stella sta

EVIL GNOME - $75 - (Murphy 2011) 45 M 6 dormant diploid Very eye-catching and different! Cream to light tan in the morning, with a light purple jagged eye pattern. Tiny purple edge on

FREAKY PEOPLE - $125 - (Murphy 2011) 43 MRe8 SEV diploid This large purple near-spider is held on very stiff scapes. It has a black band and lemon throat, instant rebloom, and is

HEAVENS TO MURGATROYD - $175 - (Murphy 2011) 52 EM 8 Dormant diploid UF Cascade Cream to light pink with a purple eye and chartreuse throat, cream midrib. Starts blooming early mid-season and bud-buil

PURGATORY MOUNTAIN - $100 - (Murphy 2011) 61 EM 7 Dormant diploid, U F Cascade Very tall lemon yellow cascade with green throat, ruffled edge, and creped texture. Early morning opener, and ext

REFLEX - $80 - (Murphy 2011) 30 M 6 SEV diploid Unusual Form Cascade What a surprise from this one - it opens at midnight with dark red tepals and huge dark green throat, and as

REVOLUTION - $100 - (Reed, 2011) 50+MLa8 dormant, diploid, Unusual Form Exotic Ruby red, with a darker red eye and a large yellow-to-gree

SHENANDOAH DUSK - $50 - (Reed, 2011) 45 EM 7.5 dormant, diploid, Unusual Form This light purple cascade with a very green throat began in early June, and is